Grant or Not.

New York, May 31.—A Chicago special says Conkling and Logan for Grant, Dennison and Foster for Sherman, and Hamlin and W. E. Chaudler for Blaine, held a conference last evening lasting five hours. The object was to see if all parties could not agree to a temporary organization.
After a full explanation on the part of those opposed to the unit rule of their position and strength, of which they felt sure, Conk-ling yielded the naming of a temporary chairman to the anti-Grant men, pledging himself that Cameron would carry out the agreement in good faith. This extended to an agreement not to move a substitute for one named by the committee for temporary chairman. The names of George F. Hoar and ex-Representative Brandige, of Connecticut, will be proposed to the committee

After Cenkling had pledged his asso-ciates to yielding the temporary chairman to anti-Graot men, representatives of the latter took the list of names submitted over to Logan, Cameron and their associates, and they promptly rejected three names submitted by Sherman and Blaine men, namely, Hoar, Brandige and ex Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, and declared that they would only accept the name of J. Morrison Harris, of Maryland, suggested by Conk-ling. He was vouched for by the latter as a Sherman man and as against the unit rule. Blaine and Sherman men will not to him for the reason that for years he had been a Democrat, and when a candidate for Governor declared he owed no allegiance to the Republican party.

Congressional Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—SENATE.—On motion of Mr. Burnside, the Senate took up House bill to carry into effect the re-o lution of Congress adopted October 29, 1871 with regard to the monumental column at Yorktown, Virginia. It appropriates $100. 000 for the erection of a monument and $30,00 to defraying expenses of the Yorktown centennial celebration.

After considerable debate, in which Messrs. Kernan, Maxey, Hampton, Withers, Jehnston, Butler, Hereford and others supported the bill, and Messrs Cockrell and Morrill opposed it, the bill was amend-ed so as to provide that thirteen Senators shall be members of the commission for the selection of the site, and it was then

The Senate thereupon resumed the consideration of the Laton Tariff Commission

Mr. Dawes supported the bill because he was in favor of the revision and reform of the tariff. Many articles on the list should be made free and adjustment should be made of those remaining. He then replied at length to the recent speech of Mr. Beck, of Kentucky.

Mr. Maxey, of Texas, said he desired. without going into the merits of the tariff, to give his reasons for voting for the bill. He believed the power granted to Congress to impose duties on imports was limited to raising money to pay the debt and provide for our common defence and general welfare. He did not think this power covered the protective tariff. Those who favored such a tariff claimed that it was covered by the words general welfare, but it had never been satisfactorily es ablished that the protective tariff worked to the general welfare of the country. He believed the tariff could be Constitutionally imposed only for revenue. The Sen-ate could not originate revenue bills but it could and should pass this bill and get all the intelligent information possible so that when the House should builty be induced to act it could do so on a full knowledge of the facts.

Mr. Eaton took the floor at 5 p. m. but not wishing to begin speaking at so late an hour yielded to Mr. Voorhees, who introduced a private bill after the passage of which the Senate adjourned. House.—Mr. Cobb, of Indiana, from the

Appropriations Committee, reported back the general deficiency appropriation bill and it was referred to the Committee of the sales of futures were 512,000 bales; the speculation in them was moderately active but at variable prices, opening at some im-provement, which, however, was not sus-port or home consumption. For immediate delivery the sales were 4,996 bales, including 3,020 for export, 1,879 for consumption, 97 for speculation. General trade in New York last week was dull, and the future of the markets is regarded with much less speculative confidence; and yet no marked depression of tone can be noted. There is a disposition to give less consideration to speculative in-merchants seeking rather the surer and safer guides of supply and consumption. The excessive heat has impeded business,

In the New York dry goods market the past week developed an increased business summer fabrics was stimulated by the prevailing weather; but the general market continued quiet. Woolen goods have been devoid of animation in first hands, but there was a fair movement in clothing woolens on account of former orders, and prices were fairly maintained on such makes as govern the market. Foreign goods were lightly dealt in, and the close of the season was reflected in the meagre

One of our oldest and most respected citizens has gone to the grave. Dr. FAB-IUS J. HAYWOOD diel on Sunday last, after a long illness, at the residence of his son-in-law, Hon. DANIEL G. FOWLE. and was buried last evening from Christ

Dr. HAYWOOD was born in Raleigh in the year 1801. He was the third son of JOHN HAYWOOD, Esq., who was for the space of forty years Treasurer of the State of North Carolina. He graduated at the University of North Carolina in the year 1825 and in 1827 he graduated at the University of Pennsylvania as a Doctor of Medi cine. He entered at once on its practice in Raleigh, and was remarkably successfu in his profession. For the last four or five years his infirmities were such as to forbid him to engage actively in its duties. Hi immediate successor in the practice wa his son, Dr. FABIUS J. HAYWOOD, Jr., a worthy representative of his lamented

Dr. HAYWOOD was known and respected throughout the State for his learning and skill in his profession; but in Raleigh, his native city, where he was so well known. he was especially esteemed as physician, friend and neighbor. For forty years, almost if not entirely without intermission he was the leading physician in nearly all the old families of all classes of our people His labors during this long period were arduous and exacting. Yet amid these labors, day and night, when it would seem he had no time for study, he was nevertheless a student, and kept pace with the progress of his profession. His intellect was of a high order. He seemed to discern the kernel, the truth of a proposition at a glance; and his will was as powerful as his mind was acute and quick. He had great will power. His tread in the house of sickness, his personal presence, seemed to reassure the patient; and it was a familiar saying among the old people of Raleigh. "when Dr. HAYWOOD enters one door, death goes out at another." This say ing, though quaint and hardly classical, uttered by the common mind was really the highest compliment that could have been paid to his power as a physician over disease and infirmity. No physician responded more promptly or more frequently than he to the calls of the poor, and no one ever did a larger part of what was called charity practice than he did, with the exception perhaps of the lamented McKEE. He was a true friend, vet not demonstrative in his friendships He seemed to have adopted without know ing it, as well in his practice as in his private life, that famous line applied by SHAKESPEARP to one of his best charac-

"To be, and not to seem, is this man's maxim. There was no pretence or equivocation about him. Indeed, he seemed to think aloud. Positive in his manners, and some times curt, this was no true index to his heart, which was full of the milk of human kindness.

Like all of our people, Dr. HAYWOOD lost much of his estate during the war, including in this loss 399 slaves. He was perhaps the largest real-estate owner in Raleigh at the time of his death. His es. tate was the result of the gradual honest gains of forty years' labor, and was mainly real property; and yet he was not parsimonious, but liberal with his means. He hoarded nothing. We suppose he scarcely ever asked a patient to pay his bill. He never pressed any one for money; and indeed, it was a common thing among his patients to complain that he would not present his accounts.

Thus has fallen in our midst another our of the old and sturdy pillars of society. One by one they fall. As the venerable and the learned depart from us to return no more, let the young gird themselves for the battle of life, and fit themselves to fill usefully and acceptably the places thus made vacant.

DEATH OF MRS. HOGG.

Mrs. SARAH LEIGH HOGG died in this city yesterday, at the residence of her son. Dr. THOMAS D. Hogg. As the world waked to another day of labor and strife and sin, ended a long life of innocence and gentleness and peace.

Mrs. Hogg was the second daughter o the late SHERWOOD HAYWOOD, Esq., and was born on February 15th, 1799. She married first, Major JOHN GRAY BLOUNT, a distinguished officer of the United States Army; and second, GAVIN Hogg, Esq. well known as a leading lawyer of North Carolina in the days when the profession was graced by such men as BADGER, RUFFIN, GASTON, CAMERON, MORDECAL DEVEREUX and HAWKS.

Blessed with no child of her own. widow for long years, and until the close of the war of abundant means, Mrs. Hogg adopted and reared as her own ten children of others; six of them orphans. Upon these as upon all around her she bestowed a wealth of careful tenderness. To the goodness of her heart there was no bound; to the bestowal of her charity, the only limit was the bottom of her purse. "It was this lady's disposition to think kindnesses, and to devise silent ounties, and to scheme benevolence for those about her." With all this goodness and tenderness were united thorough good sense, a clear perception of what was right and what wrong, and a will firm enough to guide aright the young and the old of a large family connection accustomed to look up to her as their directing head, and to influence for good the lives of men and women in every section of North Carolina who loved he living and will mourn her dead. A gentler, better, wiser Christian woman has not lived, and this painful life ended, her body will to-day pass from the Church of which she had been an exemplary member for three-score years, to its last earthly resting place, as yesterday her soul went to dwell with God in Life Everlasting.

"This woman was full of good work and alms-deeds which she did."

CHICAGO

Last night's New York papers are filled with rumors and predictions from Chicago. where members of the Convention to meet to-morrow have already gathered in large numbers. Readers of those papers will find a large assortment of opinions as to who is certainly to be the candidate nominated: who is infallibly to be nominated on the first ballot; elaborate statements why Grant must necessarily be the man, and other equally elaborate statements why he cannot possibly be the man. You pay your money and you take your choice-For us, we altogether agree with the Herald, which says that in all the twaddle of the politicians we do not see that Grant can be beaten. His nomi nation at Chicago seems a certainty. Short of the development of some semi-miraculous scheme of opposition it is a certainty Such a scheme to be exploded upon the Convention at a given moment is obscurely hinted at in the mysterious whispers of anti-Grant men : but in such whispers we out but little faith. And while we believe Grant will be nominated, we as sincerely hope that there may be no unfortunate misadventure in this respect. His nomina tion is desirable. He is the first man who has ever sought to be President for a third time, and if he were not nominated now he would come again four years later and so on indefinitely. But if he is nominated now and beaten in the election as he must be, two great and excellent results will be accomplished—the third term will be put out of the way for generations and the Republican party will be swept away with the rubbish of that great pretence. Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad, and that is what has happened to the friends of the Grant movement. They have determined to usurp the function of the whole people as to President making-to foist upon the nation through their party an Executive that the party does not care for and that the nation does not want: and they will not accomplish their purpose, but they will destroy the machinery devoted to the

THE ANNOUNCEMENT of the completed arrangements for enlarging the famous Sibley mills of Augusta, Ga., affords an eloquent commentary on the extraordinary success of this branch of industry in the South. The fact that Georgia is the richest, the most important and the most influential State in the South to-day is referable entirely to the wise forecast of her people in realizing the power of manufactories as an agent of progress and development. The fact that Atlanta, Columbus and Augusta have sprung up, since the war, from insignificant country villages to busy, prosperous, growing cities is due to the same conditions.

PUBLISHING ne spapers for philan thropic and not business motives is a costly business, as the Methodist General Cor ference is discovering. The National Repository has lost $30,000 during the past four years, the Southern Advocate $16, 000, the Pacific Coast Advocate $13,000. the St. Louis Advocate $9,000 and the Golden Hours several thousand more The lay delegates think that these unprofitable publications should be discontinued, but the majority of the ministerial delegates think they should be kept up, although at a loss.

Can't Vote Against Lead.

[Statesville Landmark.]

An enthusiastic Western Democrat wh had not until lately been particularly wedded to either of the two gentlemen most prominently named in connection with the Democratic nomination for Governor, was recently asking a friend whom he had just met, about their respective claims and merits. The party questioned answered as best he could, when suddenly the mountain man recalled a fact which he had once heard. "But they tell me," he said, "that one of them-that man Jarvis-has a crippled arm?" The party appealed to answered, yes; that during the war Jarvis had stopped a bullet with his right arm that a section of the bone had been taker out, and that the member hangs limp and helpless by his side. The other hardly waited until the recital was finished. Hi face flushed up, and with an emphatic gesture, as if that settled it, he exclaimed "I can't vote against lead!"

A lady who heard the conversation de clared at once that that utterance must go in print, and here it is.

Italian statisticians calculate that fifty thousand Italians emigrate to the North and South Americas yearly. Up to 1871 South America had received 227,690 Italian settlers. The numbers now leaving the peninsula are alarming the landowners ; during March a single steamer bore away to Montevideo 1.300 and other steamers shipped nearly as many at a load.

NEW YORK CORRESPONDENCE.

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.] NEW YORK, May 29, 1880. EDITOR NEWS :- Rev. Professor Latiner, of Davidson College, with his wife and two children, arrived here on Thursday, and sailed for Liverpool to-day in the Inman Line Steamer, city of Chester. The Professor goes to Germany for the second time, to spend six months more in the Leipsic Universities, in the study of Languages, and particularly of Sanscrit. As an eminent scholar writes, in reference to this trip, "The students at Davidson may be few, but its authorities are determined that they shall be good scholars."

General Rufus Barringer spent a day of two here on his way to his party's National Convention at Chicago, on Wednesday the 2d. His son was with him, en route for the Poughkeepsie Business College.

I have just received from Alexandria Egypt, two very beautiful oil paintings by Mrs. Victor C. Barringer, of North Carolina, who has, I am told, devoted considerable time to her pencil since her residence of six or seven years in that ancient city. One of them is a view of the Obelisk, or Cleopatra's needle, which has just been shipped there for this city, and may reach here in the course of four or five weeks. It is to be put up in a prominent place in Central Park, and will undoubtedly add greatly to the attractions of that grand Park. The cost of bringing it here is estimated at a hundred thousand dollars, and is all borne by Mr. Wm. H. Vanderbilt. The picture represents only about two-thirds of it, the lower third being hidden by a building. Indeed there are houses all about it, but if some of the interest in the picture is thereby lost, the surround ings, including a long stretch of the Mediterranean, are very fine, and finely executed. But its companion picture, a view of a Bedouin's camp as seen by Mrs. Barringer four miles from Alexandria, strikes my unprofessional eye as far superior, indeed of surpassing beauty. The Arabs, in their oriental costume, the animals about the capacious tent-a camel, an ass and some sheep-a few isolated shrubs, some patches of green grass in the midst of the sandy desert surrounding them, and the rich sky above, tinged with golden hues of sun-rise, altogether form a picture of rare beauty, and painted with rare skill. The pictures have handsome companion frames, about four feet by two. I am authorized to sell them, and if not readily disposed of here, one of them at least will go to a North Carolinian who has seen and admired both. And, writing of art, I may mention, that there was an exhibition, on Thursday evening, at the Cooper Institute, of paintings, drawings, and statuary, the work of the many ladies and gentlemen who are pursu ing their professional studies in that Insti-tute, where, I believe, gratuitous instruction by capable masters is open to all comers. Among the contributors I have the pleasure of knowing Miss Kollock, of Hillsboro, and Miss Long, of Randolph who had presented me with a ticket. More with the hope of meeting them and other North Carolina friends than of admiring works of art in which I am not skilled, attended the exhibition, but if I may indulge in an' Hibernianism, there was such a vast throng of people that there was no chance to see anybody. I strolled leisurely through all the rooms, but saw no familian face, and as no names were attached to the works I was not even gratified by a sight of the handiwork of my fair countrywomen. There were thousands of people and perhaps as many paintings, &c., to look at. One thing struck me, which would not be likely to see at home, that is strolling through the statuary room, and gazing at the nude figures, male and female, which were on exhibition. Our Southern people are not sufficiently educated to admire such works. Monday will be decoration day here and legal holiday. The change of weather, from intense heat of the week to quite a

As I write I am favored with a call from Rev. Dr. Phillips and Mr. Galloway, of Rockingham, a brother-in-law of Colonel Scales, and am glad to hear from them that Col. Scales is much more comfortable than he had been for some days. Dr. Phillips is, as usual, most cheerful, and improving

A BOOM THAT'S COME TO STAY !

[Correspondence of THE RALEIGH NEWS.] WASHINGTON, D. C. May 27 EDITOR NEWS .- In looking over the host of prominent men in North Carolina for a strong, and at the same time worthy Democratic candidate for next Governor your correspondent instinctively turns to the honorable gentleman who now represents the 5th District in Congress-Gen eral Alfred M. Scales. He is fully capable of filling the guber natorial chair with honor to himself, and to the dear old commonwealth he so faithfully represents in Congress, and to the political party whose principles none have adhered to with more honorable and praise-worthy tenacity. A man of the people, he possesses a popularity with all creeds and colors, not only in his own upland country but down on the Seaboard his praise is reverberated with an equal degreeof appreciation and North Carolinians may well point to him. not as "a coming man," but one who is already in the midst of life's honorable conflict, and the man who whether in the walks of private life, or in the busy halls of legislation, still nourishes the same warm affection for the prosperity of his native State, whose welfare he has ever labored to advance. This is the man whom your correspondent would desire to see nominated, and nothing could prevent his election! Vox populi, vox Dei!! With no disparagement to the other gentlemen who ably represent North Carolina in both chambers of Congress, I here make assertion with all due sincerity in the be-lief of its correctness, that General Scales is, by far, the ablest, and the most active worker that we have here, being at present Chairman of the Committee on Indian affairs, and "first man" on that of the militia, two most important committees. Though it may seem to some an insignificant fact that Gen. Scales has quite frequently of late been called upon to fill the chair of the House, during sessions of the committee of the whole on the state of the Union, still it is, notwithstanding, a straw which shows that his ability is recognized and I maintain that it is to a degree com plimentary to the State from which be comes that out of nearly three hundred members he should be selected.

Having served several terms in Congress always representing his State and district ably and honorably, it is now time that we raise him one round higher up the great political ladder and make him our next Governor.

Hon. Alfred M. Waddell of the Cap Fear section is the right man for Lieut. Governor, and in thus uniting the interests of Mountain and Seaboard who can deny that this ticket would be an invincible one Very respectfully,

The Good Templars.

[Reported for THE RALEIGH NEWS.] NEW YORK, May 27, 1880.

Editor News:—The most important business transacted yesterday to the North Carolina jurisdiction was the crediting its account with the R. W. G. L. with $300 money expended in missionary work during the year 1879. We are now out of debt to this body, a matter that has tram-meled us for many years.

The election of officers occupied most of the afternoon and resulted as follows: R. W. T .- J. J. Hickman, Kentucky.

The Late Col. N. A. McLean.

(From the Robesonian.)

The Robeson county Bar met on Friday, May 21st, 1880, according to adjourn-

Col Nath'l. McLean, Chairman, called the meeting to order.

Capt. W. S. Norment in behalf of the Committee consisting of himself and Messrs. W. F. French, Alfred Rowland, J. D. McIver, and Thos. A. McNeill, reported the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted and ordered spread upon the minutes of the Superior Court.

WHEREAS, Under a mysterious, and yet allwise dispensation of Providence, death has again entered into our brotherhood, and within less than one year from the death of our esteemed brother, Giles Leitch, the grim Harvester has cut down and removed from our midst, our much loved brother. Col. Neill Archibald Mc-Lean. Therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Col. N. McLean, our profession has lost one its brightest ornaments, and most talented members, the community in wich he lived, a sincere and earnest friend, and a wise and udicious counsellor. Resolved. That as a lawyer, he was thorough, as an advocate, able, and in the discharge of his professional duties he was courteous to all. We who were accustomed to meet him in the forum, knew best the force and strength of his well-cultivated and scholarly mind. Resolved. That his fame is the common privilege of the people among whom he ived, and the name of the great Robeson county orator will long be fresh in their memories, and not his fame and brilliant eloquence only, but as well his genial smile, friendly greeting, courteous manners and frank generosity.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with his immediate family in their sad bereavement, and with them can but turn to he pages of that sacred volume, from which he so often drew inspiration for comfort and relief.

Some Leading Questions.

[Detroit Free Press.]

making myself solid with the old man, presented him with sixteen dollars' worth of watch-dog ?" "He'll set him upon you if you have any trouble !" "Um! Have I no redress?" "Yes, sir, go and lick the prairie ranger who has stolen away your girl's affections. "I'll do it ?" "Glad to hear it. I'll defend your case for $20.

"Um! "Um!"

"Come to think of it he is a bigger man than I am."

"Then let him lick you, and I'll make t cost him $50 !" "Um! I'll think of it."

THE CENSUS MAN.

HOW WOMEN MAY PROTECT THEMSELVES.

[From the Detroit Free Press.] In a few days more the census man will ake his book under his arm and start out to make his mark on this decade. Under the new law they have a legal right to ask about five hundred questions, but there is such a thing as a census man going too far. It is well enough for defenceless families to know where the line is

No census man has a right to dispute woman when she gives her age. Under the law he can elevate his eyebrows and exclaim, "Did you ever?" when a female supposed to be 45 returns her age at 32. but he must stop right there. He may wonder to himself where on earth all the grandmothers of this country have sudlenly slipped to, but he musn't wonder to

No census man has a legal right to ask woman if she is living with her first, second or third husdand, or whether she quarrels more with the third than the first. The law supposes every family to be living in peace and harmony, and the United States Government never takes any notice of a family row brought on by the hired girl being kissed in the dark.

Under the law, no census-taker has any right to ask a wife how many evenings in week her husband is out after 11 o'clock. or what is the subject of her remarks when he slips in at the side-door: This great and glorious government has always been conducted on the principle that clubs, odges and societies were a part of its

The law does not specify that the census nan shall ask a wife if she couldn't have done better by waiting for a second offer. This information is supposed to be cheerfully volunteered, and is marked with a big red "X" to signify the official's belief that if she hadn't accepted the offer she did she would have died an old maid.

A baby with the measles counts just as much in law as one galloping around barefooted in the front door-yard. The law requires the census-taker to remark that your baby is the handsomest one in the ward. If he neglects to do so he should be called back.

For the benefit of wives who do their own housework and are ashamed to have it known, blanks are furnished with a heading which reads: "Is generally in the habit of keeping four servants, but has just given her help a vacation." The new law is also very generous in another matter. The census-taker may legally inquire who lives next door, but it is supposed that most women will fill out and sign the following: "Family named Blank; no style about 'em; he wears a shabby hat, and she never combs her hair until three o'clock p. m.; they have a carriage, but I don't believe it's paid for; they allow their children to throw stones at our dog, and permit them to play on mouth organs; 'they say' she has diamonds, but I don't believe it; lots of callers, but I presume they were there to collect bills. To all of which I subscribe myself," etc.

Never Sleep in Church.

[From the Oil City Derrick.]

"Sakes alive," said the good-natured Colonel Solon, as he rushed into the Oil City Derrick office, "I never felt so warm as this but once afore in my life, an' that are time 'twasn't so awful hot in the atmosphere, eitner.' "When was it, Colonel?" "Don't believe I ever told you 'hat, did I? Twas some time ago. I was livin' in Jamestown, and was a respectable member of one of the churches, an' like all respectable members had a ticket for my sleepin' berth during long sermons on hot days. One day when 'twas more'n usually hot I was just a droppin' off to sleep when I thought I'd wipe my forehead. I felt but couldn't find my handkercher. Just then I noticed suthin' white on the floor beyond my feet, an' bein' a little nigh-sighted I took it for my missing rag, an' went for it. There warn't no parti ions below the seats in that are church, so when I reached down I saw some one in the pew front of me had a foot on my handkercher, an' it riled me a trifle, so when I got hold of it I vanked about two-hundred weight on it the first haul. Sakes alive! There was the alfiredest scream ver ever heard, an' there I had got old of old maid Jenkins's summer dress an' vanked her off the seat an' under it into my own pew afore I node myself. She flounced up in a second, with a long dust mark down her back, her hat jammed over one eye, her sleeve ripped open an' half her false hair hangin' down on her shoulders. I jest sat thar sort o' stunned like, with the minister an' the whole congregation watchin' her crawling out from under my pew, lookin' like as if we'd been havin' a fight an' she'd got the worst of it, an' me not a-knowin what to say. I aint abin to that church since, an' as Miss Jenkins said I was drunk they kind o' read me out of the place, an' I never had a chance to vindicate my karakter."

The London Times, in its issue of the 27th inst, says - "Experts predict hat there will be a great harvest both here and in France, where the appearance of the wheat is all that could be desired." In Great Britain, as in this country, May has been a dry month, but with no serious injury to the crops. The Times es ima es that if the promised yield of wheat is realized it will effect a saving to France and England together of twenty million pounds sterling.

Just as he started over, Dr. Royster, knowing that there was not sufficient room in the buggy for himself, his driver and the horse, concluded to vacate. He did so quite harriedly and dislocated his elbow.

He has recently been connected editorially with a paper in Washington called the Argus. PEACE INSTITUTE. -The commencement exercises at Peace Institute last night were opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Rumple, of Salisbury. The chorus lently rendered by the vocal class. This was followed by a duet, Miss Nannie Burwell on the organ and Miss Linds Rumple on the piano. Then Miss Fannie Baker presented a recitation entitled "Courtship Under Difficulties," which was elegantly rendered and brought down the house. So well did she sustain the dual character, that had not one been looking at her it would have seemed as if two persons were speaking. A vocal solo by Miss Fannie McRae was the next feature of the evening; then the annual address was delivered by Capt. C. M. Cooke. His subject was "The Necessity of Developing Character in our Women," and it was handled with the consummate skill which usually characterizes his speeches. No mere synopsis could do it justice. The Fantasie Dramatique was then given by Miss Linda Rumple, a recitation from Moliere's "Learned Women" by Miss Minnie Faucett, and a vocal solo by Miss Mamie Mock. The announcement of distinctions was then made. A vocal solo by Miss Linda Rumple was then had; this was followed by a recitation by Miss Ina McCall, and this in turn by another vocal solo by Miss Nannie Burwell. Certificates of graduation were then awarded, and Bibles presented to the graduating class by E. R. Stamps, Esq. A college song was then sung by the vocal class, the benediction pronounced, and the audience dispersed to inspect the paintings and drawings, with which the walls of the art gallery were lined.

FUNERAL OF DR. HAYWOOD .-Christ Church was filled to overflowing yesterday at the funeral of Dr. Haywood, who for half a century has been so prominent a citizen of Raleigh. At a little after 5 o'clock the funeral procession entered at 'he South gate of the church yard. Entering the church the impressive service for the burial of the dead was read by the rector, Dr. Marshall. The choir sang the two hymns "Rock of Ages" and "I would not live alway." The procession was then reformed and proceeded to Oakwood Cemetery where what had been Fabias J. Haywood was committed to the earth to await the resurrection. The following named gentlemen acted as pall bearers: Wm. Grimes, Wm. M. Boylan, Sylvester Smith, W. D. Haywood, Gen, R. F. Hoke, W. J. Hiers, Thos. H. Briggs, Geo. H. Snow, R. S. Tucker, A. M. PRACTICAL TRAINING .- The Amercan small boy at a very early age learn to appreciate results. He learns for instance that the natural result of a certain line of conduct on his part will be an invitation to an extra session in the wood-house, and very shortly thereafter ne learns that a few extra garments neatly folded and skilfully disposed of will result in a great increase of comfort to himself while adjournment. But still the small boy may be taught facts before he learns to appreciate results, and this is a point on which parents should exercise great care. We recently had occasion to chronicle the fatal results of the want of parental care in this parwith George and his little hatchet and a tomato vine. Yesterday a still more fearful case came to ou: knowledge, and revolting as the facts are it is our duty as public journalists to chronicle them in detail. About eighteen mon hs ago Master

in this city, became the proud owner of a Newfoundland pup which even great believer in the capacity of animals to receive instruction. Indeed. to such an extent does he carry his theory that on one occasion when summoned before his mother for punishment in connection with the breaking of a certain hobby-horse, the property of a younger brother, he completely routed his severe but just parent by inquiring of what possible utility a horse could be until it was broken. It may readily be supposed that with such a bent of mind Master Jones was by no means likely to allow such an opportunity as his pup presented to pass unimproved.

In point of fact he did not,
and from an early period of that dog's career his young master bent the whole energy of his precocious intellect to the task of developing his favorite into a natural marvel. Nor were Master Jones' labors unrewarded. The pup soon became per-fect in the arts of carrying walking canes and umbrellas, going seek, down charging, bringing to hand sticks thrown in the water and other matters constituting the complete compendium of canine accomplishments. All things were happy in the household of which Master Jones was, alas! that we should have to write was, the hope and pride; but in an evil hour the youth got hold of an illustrated Magazine in which was a story and picture of the rescue of a babe from drowning by a Newfoundland dog. New possibilities of distinc tion and usefulness for his own Newfoundland opened to his entranced vision, and in his inmost soul he resolved that he should not fail of being put in a book for lack of opportunity to distinguish himself. To carry the education of his dog to the limits of possibility Master Jones regarded a course of practice with a "sho nuff" baby indispensable. In pursuance of this he on vesterday, in the temporary absence from home of a Mrs. Smith living on the same street, borrowed the baby of that excellent woman, his own household being without that necessary adjunct to the carrying out of his plan, and proceeded to Tucker's. On his arrival at that classic sheet of water, he at once commenced giving his pet the first lesson in a course of training such as Master Jones proudly hoped would eventuate in the winning by that remarkable animal of the humane society's gold medal for life saving. Carefully placing the unfortunate subject of his experiment on the surface of the water he com-manded his pupil to "go seek." The rup at once plurged gallantly into the water, but here the experiment failed. Accustomed as he was to bringing sticks to land he was utterly unable to account for the white Phenomenon, which was supported by its spreading garments and by the effort to extract nourishment from its thumb, carefully placed in its mouth by the thoughtful Master Jones, prior to the institution of his series of experiments. The pup swam round and round this object, seeking diligently the accustomed sticks and venting his disappointment at the non-success of his search, in short barks. The clothes of the infant were fast becoming saturated when Mrs. Smith appeared on the scene. She at once rushed to the rescue and pouring revilings of forty women power on Master Jones's head she snatched her infant from its perilons position. She then turned her attention to Master Jones. That young gentleman now stands at his meals and sleeps face downward. His faith in his theories is however undiminished, and he has already announced his intention of continuing his experiments so soon as he can find an unappropriated baby to operate on. ALL SIGNS FAIL IN DRY WEATHER. -The tree frog has squealed, the ducks have been washing themselves was full of sun-dogs, but not a drop of rain has fallen. But it's just bound to come now. George Enniss, on his way to town yesterday, killed and hung up three black snakes, one of which was seven feet long and as big roun l as a man's arm. When we were young such a snake as this would have caused rain to fall in Egypt, and we confidently expect one within 48 hours. On the other hand, two of the most successful farmers in the county predict at least three weeks more of drought, and are preparing their crops

TO THE STATE CONVENTION .--Tickets to delegates and visitors to the approaching Democratic Convenat the following reduced rates: From him for his effort.

Crump, a farmer not twenty miles from Raleigh, is a man of strong notions and firm determination. If he believed in any one thing more than he did the ten commandments, it was the tree frog, as a prognosticator and forerunner of rain. The chirping of the tree frog last Wednesday caused Dave to put in immediate readiness his potato and cabbage land for the sitting down for some days after the approaching rain. After his work was done, he just role into town to spend an hour, and hear how was going the fight between Jarvis and Fowle. While in town with some friends, he bet treats all round that a good rain would fall in twenty-four hours. The time passed, and still ticular in a case remotely connected | not a drop of rain, or even a cloud put in an appearance. Yesterday Dave came in again, to hear the news and set up drinks as his losses on the sign that had never before fooled him. He set them up just one time too often, and on his return home yesterday, about sundown, he had hardly thrown the saddle from his horse when again "croak" went the tree frog. In Dave's condition this was at that early age gave promise of much future greatness. Master Jones is a then imagined froggie said, "set 'em up again." Into the house he ran, took hisgun down, and as quick as thought, he was in the yard, waltzing around the elm in search of the frog who hal not only made him lose one bet, but wanted him to set them up again. 'Don't shoot up that tree, Mr. Crump;" cried his good wife, "you wil kill my guineas." "D-the guineas," says Crump, at the same time throwing down the gun and shucking off his shoes, coat and hat, up the tree he went, fully determined not to be out done. When about twenty feet from the ground, a limb gave way, and down he came. Crump is now at home in bed, nursing a broken leg, and cursing dry weather and tree frogs.

JUSTICE'S COURT.—Justice Barbee finished up his docket yesterday, disposing of the several cases thereon as follows:

Eliza Fleming, discharged on her own recognizance, to appear at the next term of the Superior Court. Daniel Simmons and Serena Jones, bound over to court in a bond of $50

Alexander Polk was discharged, the prosecutor withdrawing the complaint and paying the costs.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING .-- Quite an en husiastic Sunday school institu e was held at New Hope Church, six miles east of Raleigh, on Sunday last. A large crowd was present, and by special previous invitation Rev. C. W. Scarborough, John E. Ray, and A. Montague, of Wake Forest College, addressed the people on the subject of Sunday schools.

DECORATION SERVICES .- The ex-Federal soldiers resident of this city met at the National Cemetery in respect to the memory of their old companions in arms yesterday afternoon. The services were opened with prayer by Rev. J. S. Watkins; a memorial address was delivered by Hon. J. W. Albertson; Mr. C. B. Fairchild read the poem "Columbia." Dr. Watkins then pronounced the benediction and the assembly dispersed to strew flowers upon the graves of their dead comrades.

GRANGE GATHERING.—From one of our farmer friends we received vesterday an invitation to attend a social gathering of farmers at Milburnie, Wednesday. Barbecued shoat and lamb and Brunswick stew and trimmings were the seductive words he used. We hope our friends will enjoy themselves and are sure they will.

CHAPEL HILL NOTES:-

Chapel Hill, May 31 .- The Chapel Hill township meeting, on Saturday last, appointed delegates to the County Convention and endorsed Jarvis. Saunders and Carr for Governor, Secretary of State, and Lieutenant-Governor.

The people here generally disapprove of the unscrupulous warfare waged by the partisans of some of the candidates against their opponents.

We shall be in a bad fix here unless it rains soon.

GUILFORD COUNTY NOTES:-Greensboro, May 31 .- The weather is very fine and cool for the season, and wheat is very promising, some nearly ready to harvest. Oats are good.

Trade has slackened, somewhat, owing to the very busy season with farmers, this being rather between what we call the 1st and 2nd season of the summer trade.

A very brilliant marriage took place last week, the contracting parties being Mr. W. R. Odell of Concord, and Miss Lizzie Seargent, Revs. Bruton and Cole officiating. Rather a novel scene took place, the father (J. M. Odeli), presenting the son at the altar on dry land, Sunday morning the sky | with a copy of the Bible, and twoone thousand dollar each-certificates of stock in the well known firm of Odell & Co., of this city. This I say was an unusual scene, and doubtless a very pleasant one to the young couple. Mr. Odell also had furnished him with a handsome house in Concord, ready to occupy. The bridal presents are described as very exquisite and numerous, rather exceeding the usual amounts. The party are now on a visit to the Northern cities, including Niagara and other noted places.

Rev. D. R. Bruton has returned from a long trip North, in the interest of Greensboro Fonale College, where he secured much substantial aid in eash and pledges, so that said College is released from temporary tion over the N. C. R. R. will be sold embarrassment. Much credit is due

GLEANINGS FROM STATE EXCHANGES.

Hamlet, the head of the Raleigh & Augusta Railroad, had a 31 hour rain Sunday.

The Carolina Central Railway was sold at auction yesterday, and bought in by the bond holders at the price of

$1,200,000. The Lexington Exchange brings tidings of harm by the heavy rains of Saturday and Sunday. "Reedy creek was very high, and washed away crops and fences in its course; much damage has doubtless been done upon other streams in the county."

The Greensboro Patriot learns that more than 5,000 persons were in the procession formed at Graham on Saturday to attend the unveiling of the monument on the battle ground of Alamance. Hon. D. G. Fowle, Col. T. M. Holt, Hon. K. P. Battle, and Hon. John Manning were the orators. After the speaking dinner was announced, and everybody had enough and much was left.

Guilford's manufacturing enterprise s progressive. The Patriot says that J. W. Freeman is making arrangements to establish a woolen cloth manufactory on Deep River, about twelve miles from Greensboro. The factory building has been finished, and Mr. Freeman has bought a complete set of machinery. He expects to have the mills in operation by the 1st of July, and will manufacture jeans and all kinds of heavy goods, but will make a specialty of what the trade may demand.

The Oxford Free Lance says Mr. Aiken, a Granville farmer in Knap of Reeds township, last year planted 13,000 tobacco hills, not quite three acres. He worked one hand and one horse. He raised 2,750 pounds of tobacco and sold the same for $1,000. He sold 1,065 pounds at the Granville Warehouse Wednesday, which ne ted him more than $600. Besides his tobacco crop, Mr. Aiken made a good crop of corn and wheat, working the same force. Who can beat this?

The Goldsboro Messenger says that the people of Smithfield, Johnston county, have organized a company for building the Smithfield & Selma Railroad. Seth Woodall, Esq., is the President of the organization, Messrs. D. W. Fuller, G. N. Peacock, E. W. Pou, J. C. Hood and W. L. Reiley are the Directors; Dr. L. E. Kirkman, Secretary, and W. T. STATE POLITICAL NOTES:-

Eighteen counties have so far instructed for Jarvis; five counties for Fowle.

Democratic Conventions in Beaufort and Martin counties, on Saturday, instructed delegates for Judge Fowle.

The Davie county Democrats met in Convention on Saturday, and by a unanimous vote instructed the delegates appointed to the State Convention in favor of Governor Jarvis.

The Charlotte Observer says that the Democrats of "Cabarrus send instructions for Maj. C. Dowd, of Charlotte, for Congress, and for Jarvis and Holt for Governor and Lieutemant-Governor. Catawba instructed for M. L. McCorkle for Congress. No instructions were given as to State officers."

General Johnstone Jones has been warmly recommended by many papers and people for the Democratic nomination for State Auditor. To the Burke Blade, which bad urged his nomination, he writes: "I thank you sincerely for the compliment, and for your kind words, but I really do not desire the office, and trust that my name may not be presented by my friends for the position, in the State Convention."

The Craven Democratic Convention or, Saturday last, the Nut Shell says, 'passed resolutions endorsing the manner of administering the affairs of government, both State and National, by the Democratic party, and condemning the administration of the Republican party." No instructions were given to the delegates to the State Convention, but the struggle between the friends of Fowle and Jarvis occurred over the selection of President. Hon. C. C. Clark, representing the Jarvis men, was chosen by a very large majority.

The colored delegates to Chicago are having a good time. A telegram to the Herald says that there is considerable uneasiness among all the managers over the reports of the condition of the Southern votes which are brought by the delegates who have thus far arrived from that section. They are expected to be much more divided than has been heretofore supposed at the North, and judging from the talk of those here the degree of indecision throughout the South will cause considerable surprise. A strong local Blaine committee here is doing excellent work for its chief. It acts as a committee of reception and entertainment. It drives delegates about town, shows them the sights, makes them feel at home and gives them an opportunity to learn all about the disfranchisement of the Blaine and Washburne men by the State Convention. WATSON'S NEW SERIES

The lower numbers of this reading series are remarkable for the "word-build-ing system," the high order of the illus-trations, and the interesting but strictly progressive character of the reading lessons. The higher volumes challenge comparison on account of their elocutionary treatises and the noble range of selection from standard literature.

GILDERSLEEVE'S LATIN SERIES.

B. L. Gildersleeve, Ph. D., Gottingen, LL.D., Professor of Greek in Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

Rarely have text-books been greeted with s large a measure of favor and hearty apprecia-tion, as these books by Professor Gildersleeve have received from the best scholastic and eduhave received from the best scholastic and edu-cational minds of the country. The author, now of national reputation as a scholar, has had very complete preparation for such a work. After being graduated at Princeton, he studied for several years in the Universities of Ger-many, where he received his Ph.D., etc., with highest honors. His subsequent life has been devoted to teaching and linguistic study. When the new and richly endowed Johns Hopkins University sought for a fit man for its chair of Greek, the appointment was conferred on Prof Greek, the appointment was conferred on Prof. Greek, the appointment was conferred on Prof. Gildersleeve, after wide conference, and without his solicitation or effort, and his work as senior professor of the University attracts marked attention. He is also the presiding officer of the American Philogical Association.

Prof. Gildersleeve's Latin books are the product of this order of ability and educational training. Embodying the best results of recent studies in Latin philology, they are simple studies in Latin philology, they are simple clear and practical in method.

THE LATIN PRIMER. complete in itself, a naturally developed course for beginners, at once holds the interest of the pupil, and prepares him thoroughly for ready and intelligent use of Grammar and Reader, or Latin author. It supplies: "Maximum of Forms; Minimum of Syntax; Early Contact with the Language in Mass."

Forms; Minimum of Syntax; Early Contact with the Language in Mass."

A teacher in one of the leading High Schools of the country, who conducted a large class through this book, writes:

"We have just finished the Primer, having spent upon it thirty-four weeks; and I have been trying to realize my pupils' attitude towards the study, as compared with that of other classes I have known. They have the use of a larger vocabulary; their text-book has secured for them a careful drill in the normal terminations; they have been brought more into contions; they have been brought more into con-tact with the language in the concrete, and have, therefore, a more vivid interest in it; and they have been less perplexed by exceptional forms and difficult construction.

"The book is thoroughly alive, and will perforce make its students so." THE LATIN GRAMMAR is marked by its genuine scholarship, clear and logical arrangement of material, and a typography that pleasantly aids the eye. Its presentation of forms is plain and convenient; its definitions, rules and other statements are brief and pointed; and its translations of illustrative examples are most striking models for students.

THE LATIN READER has Fables and Stories; "De Gestis Alexandri," a most interesting narrative, chiefly from Curtius; one book of Cæsar's "De Bello Gallico," treated in a manner to make it an admirable drill in Latin Syntax; also notes and References to the Grammar, and a Vocabulary.
